Candles add ambience and aromatics
to any interior design scheme

THE ALIDA

The first thing you'll notice in The Alida hotel is its positively heavenly scent, a custom fragrance the property created with boutique Brooklyn candlemaker Joya. Capturing the essence of the Savannah landscape — think lush squares, dashing historic homes and the cobblestone streets of the waterfront — the candle is a heady blend of fig, coconut, jasmine, amber and sandalwood in a supremely chic vessel emblazoned with a tonal letter "A."

Where to buy: The Alida lobby, 412 Williamson St.

Scent notes: Fig, coconut, jasmine, amber, sandalwood

PERRY LANE HOTEL

Though the relaxing custom scent at Perry Lane Hotel was designed to warmly welcome out-of-towners (travel can be stressful, after all), Savannah locals are equally apt to inquire about the property's intoxicating aroma. Masculine notes, like clove and cedarwood, evoke the city's stately architecture, while daintier hints of violet and rose add feminine allure. A simple, weighty glass vessel tucks in to any style of decor.

Where to buy: Andie Kully Boutique at Perry Lane Hotel, 256 E. Perry St.

Scent notes: Clove, eucalyptus, violet, rose, white flowers, atlas cedarwood, sandalwood, gurjum, coumarine, red quince, herbal notes, moss

NOURISH

The crisp, clean fragrance of Nourish's Eucalyptus Mint candle is a fan favorite, says owner Shoshana Walker. The scent is instantly soothing, due to the calming, anti-anxiety properties of the eucalyptus plant. Create a spa-like environment in the master bedroom, or use it in the kitchen: Instead of competing with what's cooking (or what aromas might linger), this candle adds a refreshing, uplifting scent to the busiest room in the house. This candle comes in convenient travel sizes, too — take it on the road for instant ease.

Where to buy: Nourish, locations in Savannah and Hilton Head Island

Scent notes: Eucalyptus, spearmint
